RULES BLOCK INDIA'S EFFORTS

WTO to help untie wheat export knot from Ukraine war crisis

FE BUREAU

New Delhi, April 23

WORLD TRADE ORGANIZATION (WTO) director general Ngozi Okonjo-Iweala is looking 'positively' at resolving the issue that is hampering India's bid to ship out wheat from state granaries to other countries that are facing a shortage caused by the Russia-Ukraine conflict, finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman has said in Washington. The WTO rules make it difficult for a country to export grains from official stocks if these have been procured from producers at a fixed price (minimum support price, in India's case), instead of market rates. Of course, exports by private traders who buy grains from farmers at market rates are not impacted by the WTO norm. There are already signs of increased purchases of wheat by private traders, given the lucrative export markets. Recently, PM Modi, in his talks with US President Joe Biden, offered to supply grains to other countries that are facing a food shortage should WTO norms allow it.

Sitharaman, who has been in the US since Monday to attend the spring meetings of the IMF and the World Bank, said: "...I have voiced that countries like India that have potential for grains to go, and nothing should stop them from going there," Sitharaman said in Washington on Friday.

FM asks World Bank to save nations facing debt crisis

In a meeting with World Bank group president David Malpass on Friday, Sitharaman underscored the need to bail out countries that are in the grip of a debt crisis caused by the Covid outbreak and the recent geopolitical developments. "In particular, the World Bank needs to pay special attention to Sri Lanka, which is facing an unprecedented economic situation," Sitharaman said, according to a finance ministry statement on Saturday.

Sri Lanka is facing its worst economic crisis since 1948, which has been compounded by

'India needs Russia help to INDIA WANTS TO be strong friends with the "liberal world" but it needs Russia's assistance to defend its borders, finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman told Bloomberg in an interview in Washington, reports Reuters. India procures most of its military hardware from Russia and in recent weeks has rejected appeals from Western nations to limit bilateral relations with Moscow in response to the Russian invasion of Ukraine.

Sitharaman said India,
